

MERTSEGAR

A serpent with a woman's face,
Mertsegar was her name,
Protector of the necropolis
At Thebes, she would reign.

As a coiled and deadly cobra,
Her picture's sometimes seen.
And statues of her placed in tombs,
Scare robbers from the scene.

But she was also merciful,
If someone "Sorry" said.
She healed their wounds, and then once more
Protected all the dead.